"Transparent and Accountable Governance for 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda"

Inclusive and sustainable human development are at the center of the emerging United Nations 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda, as are the calls for stronger governance to enable:

1. transparent and accountable institutions that are responsive to the needs of people, and
2. meaningful participation of individuals and collaboration between the government and the governed in governance processes to tackle inequalities and promote social inclusion.

The main purpose of ICEGOV2016 is to explore how digital technology can advance such calls and discuss related research and policy implications, by bringing together researchers, policy makers, government officials, international civil servants, and business and civil society leaders.
