

We are currently advertising for two ESRC-funded collaborative PhD studentships in the Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Stirling.

The first is on homelessness among students at Scottish HEIs: <https://www.sgsss.ac.uk/studentship/understanding-student-homelessness-in-higher-education-in-scotland/> (with Shelter Scotland)

The second is on using administrative data to understand neighbourhood environments: <https://www.sgsss.ac.uk/studentship/using-administrative-data-to-improve-neighbourhood-environmental-services-and-outcomes/> (with The Improvement Service for local government in Scotland)

Both have a closing date for applications of 29 March. Please forward onto anyone you think may be interested in applying.

Dr Peter Matthews (he/him) | Deputy Associate Dean for Research | Senior Lecturer in Social Policy – Faculty of Social Sciences | University of Stirling

4T18, R.G. Bomont Building, University of Stirling, Stirling FK9 4LA

Tel: (01786) 467688 | email: peter.matthews@stir.ac.uk | @urbaneprofessor | <http://www.stir.ac.uk/social-sciences/>

Access my recent research at: <https://www.stir.ac.uk/people/27268>